TSJ launched crowdfunding campaign at INDIEGOGO in the United States

The World's First Back-typing Bluetooth Keyboard for iPads
T-BLADE will bring another evolution to iPads.

Yokohama, Japan, August 2, 2016 – T Solution Japan Corp. (Shinnosuke Taguchi, President & CEO, hereinafter referred to as TSJ) announced today that TSJ launched a crowdfunding campaign of the world's first back-typing Bluetooth keyboard T-BLADE™ at the crowdfunding platform of INDIEGOGO. INDIEGOGO is one of the largest crowdfunding platform in the United States.

TSJ plans to launch T-BLADE™ in Japan in autumn of 2016. Then TSJ will start shipping into overseas market in spring of 2017. Before the sales to general consumers, TSJ decided to conduct a crowdfunding campaign of T-BLADE™ at INDIEGOGO which is a crowdfunding platform located in San Francisco in the United States.

INDIEGOGO is one of the two major crowdfunding platform in the United States. Total fund raising at INDIEGOGO platform reached around 950 million US dollars since 2008 until now.

T-BLADE™ is intended for Apple's iPad Air 2 and 9.7 inch iPad Pro users. By mounting T-BLADE™ on iPads, TSJ is confident of remarkably expanding the potential as a mobile device without impairing the original stylish design, operability and performance.

“T-BLADE™” is easy to use anytime soon

TSJ is developing the editing software of the dedicated “T-BLADE™”, T-BLADE EDITOR. During the input, it looks like the back-typing keyboard is transparent.

The text you type can be shared with other applications.

In easily and timely manner, you will be able to send emails and also upload SNS like Facebook and Instagram.

You can use various applications on your iPad with greater ease anywhere and anytime.

If you have higher skills of input, the keyboard image on your screen can be smaller.

You can switch off the function of the keyboard image on your screen if you want.

Just using the software for a few days, and you will find yourself typing on T-BLADE™ with ease.
