TSJ Announces an Adoption of a Subsidy for Developing New Areas of Monozukuri ^(*1), Trading and Service 2015 ^(*2) by Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry

T Solution Japan Corp. (Shinnosuke Taguchi, President & CEO, hereinafter referred to as TSJ) announced today that the prototype test sales business involved in commercialization of the back-typing Bluetooth keyboard “T-BLADE™” received a Subsidy for Developing New Areas of Monozukuri, Trading and Service 2015.

There were 24,011 applicants across the country through public invitation of this subsidy and in Kanagawa Prefecture, 292 applicants including TSJ were adopted.

By receiving the adoption of this subsidy, part of equipment investment regarding “T-BLADE™” will be subsidized.

TSJ is aiming for releasing “T-BLADE™” in 2016 and will continue focusing on system development as well.

In addition, we will be announcing the details of the launch when it is determined.

(*1) “Monozukuri” refers to as a Japanese expression for product design and manufacturing.

(*2) “Subsidy for Developing New Areas of Monozukuri, Trading and Service 2015” refers to as a public invitation of a subsidy designed by Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry, aiming to subsidize part of equipment investments of small to medium-sized companies that develop innovative service, prototypes and conduct revisions of production process through alliance with certified support agencies in order to create new businesses of service and manufacturing that accommodate domestic and international needs.
